

*ABEDUC 213: How Children Learn to Write Winter, 2023

Course Dates: January 8 - April 9, 2024

Last Day to Add/Drop/Swap: Due to the non-standard dates associated with this program, please check your Student Centre for the important dates pertaining to your section.

Pre-requisite: Due to the multiple pathways in the Bachelor of Education, please consult Undergraduate Programs in Education for questions related to pre-requisite courses.

Office Hours: By appointment

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

The intent of EDUC 213: Teaching Children How to Write course is to provide theoretical knowledge for teaching beginning writers in K-12 settings. Students will explore the fundamental components of literacy, and assignments will present multiple opportunities for students to increase their understanding of the development of writing. The focus of this part of the course will be forming the theoretical and practical knowledge about teaching writing through a wide range of developmental stages. Students will also engage in reflective practice related to their own writing and writing for academic purposes. This course is a co-requisite with EDUC 215: Supporting Children's writing, a course that will provide opportunities for students to reflect on and enact the writing strategies uncovered in this course. Students do not need to take EDUC 215 to enroll in this course, although doing so is highly recommended.

LEARNER OUTCOMES:

Over the course of the semester, students will:

1. Develop an understanding that writing as a lifelong, learned skill.
2. Explore the fundamental processes of encoding, sentence and paragraph construction, and linking the writing process to three types of writing (expository, narrative, and critical reflection). The students will also consider voice and audience as critical features of the writing process.
3. Read a variety of mentor texts to recognize and identify features of polished and professional writing.
4. Evaluate personal barriers and advantages associated with own writing and to practice the writing process.
5. Analyze and edit own writing using mentor texts, peer review, and self-assessment to understand the writing process as it emerged in own practice.

COURSE DESIGN AND DELIVERY: This course will be delivered completely online with five mandatory Zoom sessions.

REQUIRED RESOURCES:

Staying up to date with required readings is necessary for your successful completion of this course. Readings have been carefully selected to guide your understanding of the course content and contain the necessary information that you need to engage meaningfully with your groups.

The readings and resources below are recommended for continued professional learning and development well beyond this course and into your first years of teaching. You might need to purchase (or borrow from a library) a copy of the books that are starred (*) because they are not freely available online.

Please refer to the detailed Weekly Course Schedule for the assigned dates for reading these texts.

LEARNING TASKS OVERVIEW

The course has five assignments to be completed as listed below. The daily segment of this course is structured to assist with the completion of one portfolio consisting of several smaller tasks. The task descriptions and assessment details for each assignment will be discussed in class. The instructor will facilitate the ongoing work and will support students as they engage in the assignments by providing ongoing, timely and constructive feedback to further learning.

Late submissions will not be accepted without consultation with the instructor prior to the due date. If you are having trouble with completing an assignment, you must let the instructor know in advance of the due date to negotiate for an extension. Extensions will be granted in accordance with University and Faculty policies.

Cheating, copying, and plagiarism are taken seriously and will be dealt with according to the policies of the University of Calgary and the Werklund School of Education.

LEARNING TASK	DESCRIPTION OF LEARNING TASK	GROUP / INDIVIDUAL	WEIGHT	DUE DATE
LT1	Weekly discussion postings	Individual	25%	Weekly
LT2	Moderating weekly discussions	Individual	15%	Once per term as assigned

LEARNING TASKS AND ASSESSMENT

There are five required Learning Tasks for this course.

LEARNING TASK 1: Weekly Discussion Postings - DUE: Weekly / 25% of course mark

The purpose of this task is to encourage deeper learning and understanding of course concepts through reflection and discussion. You must read the required readings in preparation for online discussions.

You will produce one major post (about 300 words) for the weekly discussion forum, which should respond to moderator’s opening question(s) as well as reflecting some depth of engagement with the ideas in the weekly articles/texts (post by Thursday midnight at the latest). You will also respond at least twice (minor posts) during the week. Minor posts within a forum should build on prior comments in an intellectually engaging way. The minor posts that respond to another person can be shorter (but not less than 150 words). After posting your minimum responses, return several more times to read more new messages and respond where appropriate. You will receive points for each of your discussion contributions based on the following rubric.

Threaded Discussion Rubric:

Criteria	Excellent A+/A	Good A-/B	Acceptable B-/C	Unacceptable C-/Lower
Major Post	The post is insightful and pertinent, showing depth of thought and critical reflection; arguments strongly supported by thoughtful connection to research and prior learning/experience	The post shows some insight and critical reflection; most arguments supported by connection to research and prior learning/experience	The post shows little depth or insight; lack of evidence of connections to research or to prior learning/experience; some attempt made to think critically	The post shows no depth or insight, no evidence of critical thinking; few or no attempts made to connect this article to other research or to prior learning/experience

Follow-Up/Minor Posts	Demonstrates analysis of others' posts; extends meaningful discussion by building on previous posts.	Elaborates on an existing posting with further comment or observation.	Posts shallow contribution to discussion (e.g., agrees or disagrees); does not enrich discussion.	Posts no follow-up responses to others or posts information that is off-topic, incorrect, or irrelevant to discussion.
Clarity and style	Posts presented in a highly organized and accessible manner, with arguments detailed clearly and supported by research; references used are correctly cited acc. to APA	Posts presented in a comprehensible manner, with arguments well organized; some detail may be lacking in argumentation; good use of references/APA	Posts presented in an inconsistent manner; with flow of argumentation not always clear; inconsistent or some incorrect use of references / APA	Posts are presented in an unclear, disorganized manner, with argumentation not clear; poor form in use of references and APA style

LEARNING TASK 2: Moderating Weekly Discussions – DUE: As assigned / 15% of course mark

Students are expected to moderate weekly discussions once throughout the semester. The moderator should be the first to post their reaction (by Monday midnight) to the assigned readings during the week they are moderating. This first post should be a substantive one (400 words) summarizing key points from one or more course readings/resources and articulating moderator's personal teaching/learning experiences as well as their critical insights into the various aspects of the readings. The moderator should end their first post with a question or questions for others to respond to.

Moderators should respond frequently to other participants (at least to five class participants over the week) in order to maintain an active and engaging discussion.

A rubric will be provided in D2L and discussed in class.

Further instructions regarding moderator assignments to each weekly readings and discussion guidelines will also be provided through D2L.

LEARNING TASK 3: Phonetics Program Exploration DUE: February 11, 2024

Many programs have been developed to assist young children with learning how to write. For this assignment, you will choose one of the below programs and summarize its key features and usefulness for working with children or youth. You will work in groups of 3-4 people. If you are having problems finding a group, or if your group is not working well together, you must let the instructor know NO LATER than January 20, 2024.

Writing Program Choices:

- Lucy Calkins (Writing Pathways/Writing Workshops)
- Miriam Trehearne (Multiple Paths to Literacy)
- Turtle Island Voices
- Google Read & Write (including apps and extensions)
- Empowering Writers
- Levelled Literacy
- Handwriting without Tears

Your final product should provide all of the following information:

1. A detailed summary of how the program is set up including details of cost to schools/teachers, provision of professional development, and daily schedule of activities (how the program looks in a classroom).
2. Who (i.e. which students) benefits the most from using this program and when this program should be used (i.e. ages/developmental stages/grades).
3. How this program relates to your group's understanding of how literacy is acquired (i.e. the Four Resources Model).

The final submission could take the form of an Infograph, group essay (2-3 pages maximum length), web page, or Prezi/PowerPoint (10-15 slides). See the below rubric for other grading criteria. You should use the Four Resources Model by Luke and Freebody (1990) as your theoretical framework. Your submission should show evidence of research beyond course materials and beyond the writing program's own presented benefits. Have other academic researchers provided evidence to support the use of this writing program? You will upload a copy of your final product to the appropriate D2L discussion board for discussion. Your submission should include a References page formatted according to APA 7th Edition standards.

CRITERIA FOR ASSESSMENT OF LEARNING TASK 3

Task 3 Grading Rubric	Criteria
Professional (A+) 20/20	Program Overview: The summary of the writing program provides a thorough overview of the features, researchers, and main theories associated with the writing program. The summary provides insightful commentary about the usefulness and appropriateness of the writing program. The choice of presentation is well-suited to provide the information. Evidence of Research: Precise and accurate evidence is presented about the writing program beyond the program's own research. Class resources, discussions, and other materials are used as support or evidence of program's usefulness. Several credible sources are included as evidence. The Four Resources Model is used very well as a theoretical framework to discuss this program. Audience: Submission accurately and concisely summarizes the audience for this writing program. It suggests several possible uses for this program and identifies who would benefit from using it. Shared: Final summary is submitted to D2L in a timely manner and generated interesting discussion and feedback from peers in class. Conventions of Language: Language (written or otherwise) is sophisticated, clear and accurate with no grammar, punctuation or spelling mistakes. In-text citation makes information sources clear and easily retrieved. APA formatting is used to cite sources with no errors.
Very Well done (A) 18/20	Program Overview: The summary of the writing program provides an insightful overview of the features, researchers, and main theories associated with the writing program. The summary provides useful commentary about the appropriateness of the writing program. The choice for presentation suits the information provided. Evidence of Research: Accurate evidence is presented about the writing program beyond the program's own research. Class resources, discussions, and other materials are used as support or evidence of program's usefulness. Several credible sources are included as evidence. Understanding of the Four Resources Model is evident. Audience: Submission accurately summarizes the audience for this writing program. It suggests some possible uses for this program and identifies who would benefit from using it. Shared: Final summary is submitted to D2L in a timely manner and generated discussion and feedback from peers in class. Conventions of Language: Language (written or otherwise) is clear and accurate with few grammar, punctuation or spelling mistakes. In-text citation is well-used to indicate the source of information provided. APA formatting is used to cite sources with few errors that do not interfere with ability to locate information.
Good work (B+ to A-) 16/20	Program Overview: The summary of the writing program provides an overview of the features, researchers, and main theories associated with the writing program. The summary provides some commentary about the appropriateness of the writing program. The choice for presentation suits the information provided, although the summary is lacking in enough detail. Evidence of Research: Evidence is presented about the writing program beyond the program's own research. Two of class resources, discussions, personal experience, and other materials are used as support or evidence of program's usefulness. A few credible sources are included as evidence, but submission relies heavily on course materials. A beginning understanding of the Four Resources Model is evident, but more research is necessary. Audience: Submission summarizes the audience for this writing program. It suggests a narrow selection of uses for this program and identifies who would benefit from using it. Shared: Final summary is submitted to D2L right on time generating limited discussion and feedback.

	Conventions of Language: Language (written or otherwise) is clear but contains grammar, punctuation or spelling mistakes that occasionally impede reader comprehension. In-text citation is used. APA formatting is used to cite sources with some errors that make locating sources difficult.
Minimal Requirements Met (B- to B) 15/20	Program Overview: The summary of the writing program provides a cursory overview of the features, researchers, and main theories associated with the writing program with elements missing. The summary provides limited commentary about the appropriateness of the writing program. The choice for presentation marginally suits the information provided, resulting in a summary lacking in detail. Evidence of Research: Evidence is presented about the writing program but relies heavily on the program's own or suggested research. One of class resources, personal experience, discussions, and other materials are used as support or evidence of program's usefulness. Few credible sources are included as evidence, and the submission relies heavily on course materials or personal experience. A beginning understanding of the Four Resources Model is evident, but more research is necessary. Audience: Submission summarizes the audience for this writing program. It suggests a superficial selection of uses for this program and identifies a limited audience of users. Shared: Final summary is submitted to D2L right on time and generated limited or no discussion and feedback from peers in class. Conventions of Language: Language (written or otherwise) is somewhat clear but grammar, punctuation or spelling mistakes that impede reader comprehension. In-text citation is used incorrectly or not at all, making source of information unclear. APA formatting is used to cite sources with several errors that make locating sources difficult.
Below B: Not- Acceptable	The submission does not address or contain the expected elements of the assignment. Please meet with the instructor.

LEARNING TASK 4: Mentor Task Development DUE: March 24 by 11:59 pm

Using one of the novels listed under Required Readings, find several mentor sentences and paragraphs to exemplify excellent use of the six sections of Eats, Shoots and Leaves by Lynne Truss (see page vii for the sections).

Discuss, in a well-written paragraph, why you chose each mentor sentence as an example of the grammatical convention explained by Lynne Truss. Why did the sentence stand out as you read the mentor text? Which convention did it use the best? What misunderstandings could result had the author not used the grammatical convention well?

Your response should be 3-6 pages in length, double-spaced, and written in 12-point Times/New Roman font with one-inch page margins. Each paragraph should be concise and well-written, justifying the mentor text that you chose. You should use APA 7th Edition formatting and properly cite the sentences and the textbook.

CRITERIA FOR ASSESSMENT OF LEARNING TASK 4

Rubric - Assignment 4	A+ 9+/10	A/A- 8/10	B+/B 7/10	C+ / lower 6-/10
Content 10 points	The mentor texts align extremely well with the grammatical convention described by Truss showing a strong understanding of mentor texts. Several sentences were chosen as mentor texts, showing a strong understanding of the convention and mentor texts.	The mentor texts align well with the grammatical convention described by Truss showing an understanding of mentor texts. Some sentences were chosen as mentor texts, showing a strong understanding of the convention and mentor texts.	The mentor texts align with the grammatical convention described by Truss showing a beginning understanding of mentor texts. A few sentences were chosen as mentor texts, showing a strong understanding of the convention and mentor texts.	The mentor texts loosely align with the grammatical convention described by Truss showing a marginal or limited understanding of mentor texts. A limited number of sentences were chosen as examples.

	The paragraph concisely, yet thoroughly, describes why the chosen sentence is an excellent example. The response reveals a deep understanding of the purpose and use of grammatical conventions for clear communication.	The paragraph describes why the chosen sentence is a strong example of the grammatical convention. The response reveals a solid understanding of the purpose and use of grammatical conventions for clear communication.	The paragraph summarizes reasons for choosing the sentence is a strong example of the grammatical convention, but with little deep analysis. The response reveals a limited understanding of the purpose and use of grammatical conventions for communication.	The paragraph summarizes the information about grammatical convention, but no analysis. The response reveals a marginal understanding of the purpose and use of grammatical conventions for communication.
Composition 10 points	The response stays within the expected page length. The mentor sentences are directly quoted correctly and without error. The writing is concise and flows well as it discusses the mentor text. Few or no errors of grammar or spelling are present. Citation perfectly follows APA standards for referencing.	The response stays within the expected page length. The writing is concise as it discusses the mentor text. The mentor sentences are directly quoted with some minor transcription errors. Few errors of grammar or spelling are present. Citation follows APA standards for referencing.	The response is either too long or too short for this assignment. The writing is imprecise, wordy, or unclear as it discusses the mentor text. The mentor sentences are directly quoted with several transcription errors. Some errors of grammar or spelling are present. Citation follows APA standards for referencing but errors limit ability to find information.	The response is too short for this assignment. The writing is imprecise, wordy, and unclear as it discusses the mentor text. The mentor sentences are directly quoted with avoidable transcription errors. Several errors of grammar or spelling are present. Citation loosely follows APA standards for referencing but errors limit ability to find information.

LEARNING TASK 5: Discussion Post Revision and Reflection DUE: April 12 by 11:59 pm

For this assignment, students will choose a discussion post from either this course, or a previous online course related to literacy instruction, and revise it thoroughly to reflect updated knowledge of writing conventions.

The revised discussion post should include new or updated knowledge that you have gained through participating in this course. As a result of furthering your own knowledge, you should also revisit your References page and update it accordingly. You should submit an unchanged copy of your discussion post as it appeared in its first iteration to show your editing.

As you complete your revision, keep careful note of the changes that you made through Track Changes or photos of written revisions.

Consider the following questions as you work on your revision:

- Were you correcting grammatical errors, spelling, or information?
- What changed the most as you revised your earlier post?
- What did you notice initially when you read your earlier writing?
- How did the responses from other folks in the discussion influence your perception of your earlier post?

From these notes, write a two-page reflection on the changes that you noticed in your writing. Use course readings and your knowledge of mentor texts to support your reflection.

CRITERIA FOR ASSESSMENT OF LEARNING TASK 5

Learning Task 5 Rubric	A+	A/A-	B+ / B	C+ / lower

Reflection	The reflection is insightful and analyzes the student's understanding of themselves as a writer and increased knowledge of writing as a process. It refers to knowledge gained through course materials, discussions, Adobe Connect sessions, personal experience, and external research.	The reflection is thoughtful and provides insight into the student's understanding of themselves as a writer and writing as a process. It refers to knowledge gained through some course materials, discussions, Adobe Connect sessions, personal experience, and external research.	The reflection summarizes the editing process and provides little insight into the student's understanding of themselves as a writer and writing as a process. It refers to knowledge gained through few course materials, discussions, Adobe Connect sessions, personal experience, and evidence of external research is lacking.	The reflection merely summarizes the editing process and provides no analysis of the student's understanding of themselves as a writer and writing as a process. It refers to knowledge gained primarily from personal experience, with little reference to course materials, discussions, or Adobe Connect sessions. Little evidence of external research is provided.
Conventions of Writing	Both the revised post and reflection are clearly written with no grammatical or spelling errors. The standards of APA referencing are followed closely and with no errors.	Both the revised post and reflection are well written with minor grammatical or spelling errors. The standards of APA referencing are followed closely and with minimal errors that do not impede ability to retrieve original sources.	Both the revised post and reflection contain several minor or major, repeated grammatical or spelling errors. The standards of APA referencing are followed and errors that make retrieval of original sources difficult.	Both the revised post and reflection contain several major, repeated grammatical or spelling errors. The standards of APA referencing are loosely followed with errors that make retrieval of original sources difficult.

THE EXPECTATION OF EXCELLENCE IN PROFESSIONAL WORK

Please review the Academic Calendar carefully. It describes the program and provides detailed schedules and important dates. It contains information on expectations for student work and professional conduct. In addition, procedures are described regarding concern about student performance in the program. Please pay especially careful attention to details and descriptions in the following topic areas:

- The Importance of Attendance and Participation in Every Class

As this is a professional program, experiences are designed with the expectation that all members will be fully involved in all classes and in all coursework experiences. As you are a member of a learning community your contribution is vital and highly valued, just as it will be when you take on the professional responsibilities of being a teacher. We expect that you will not be absent from a mandatory Zoom Meeting except for documented instances of personal or family illness or for religious requirements.

- Engagement in Class Discussion and Inquiry

Another reason for the importance of attendance and participation in every class is that the course involves working with fellow students to share ideas and thinking. Each week, you will work with a small group online to discuss and understand the practical considerations of supporting children and youth engaged in reading and writing through a variety of texts. Through sharing experiences, the intent is to widen your own understanding and strategy base for building a love of writing for children and youth.

To be successful in this class, you are required to: complete the readings by the Monday of each week; participate in online class discussion; provide meaningful and appropriate peer feedback; and complete all assignments before the due date.

Online discussion boards are collaborative in nature; therefore, each student is responsible to keep the conversation going. If you are experiencing difficulties with course or workload and are unable to participate fully in the online discussion boards, you must inform the instructor immediately to ensure that all students can be active in discussion threads.

EXPECTATIONS FOR WRITING

All written assignments (including, to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc.) but also general clarity and organization. Sources used in research papers must be properly documented. If you need help with your writing, you may use the writing support services in the Learning Commons. For further information, please refer to the official online University of Calgary Calendar, Academic Regulations, E. Course Information, E.2: Writing Across the Curriculum: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/e-2.html>

*Please note that all assignments are expected to be the original work of the student and students are not to employ text generation software (for example, ChatGPT).

LATE SUBMISSIONS

All late submissions of assignments must be discussed with the instructor prior to the due date. Students may be required to provide written documentation of extenuating circumstances (e.g., statutory declaration, doctor's note, note from the University of Calgary Wellness Centre, obituary notice). Late submissions without documentation will be assigned a penalty of 10% per day to a maximum of four days. A deferral of up to 30 days may be granted at the discretion of the Associate Dean of Undergraduate Programs with accompanying written evidence if requested PRIOR to the due date.

ISSUES WITH GROUP TASKS

With respect to group work, if your group is having difficulty collaborating effectively, please contact the instructor immediately. If a group is unable to collaborate effectively or discuss course materials online in a timely manner, the instructor may re-assign members to different groups or assign individual work for completion.

GRADING

Grade	GPA Value	%	Description per U of C Calendar
A+	4.0	95-100	Outstanding
A	4.0	90-94	Excellent – Superior performance showing comprehensive understanding of the subject matter

C	2.0	60-64	Satisfactory - basic understanding of the subject matter
C-	1.7	55-59
D+	1.3	52-54	Minimal pass - Marginal performance
D	1.0	50-51
F	0.0	49 and lower	Fail - Unsatisfactory performance

Students in the B.Ed. program must have an overall GPA of 2.5 in the semester to continue in the program without repeating courses.

Academic Accommodation

It is the student's responsibility to request academic accommodations according to the University policies and procedures listed below. The student accommodation policy can be found at: <https://www.ucalgary.ca/legal-services/sites/default/files/teams/1/Policies-Student-Accommodation-Policy.pdf>. Students needing an accommodation because of a disability or medical condition should communicate this need to Student Accessibility Services in accordance with the Procedure for Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: ucalgary.ca/legal-services/sites/default/files/teams/1/Policies-Accommodation-for-Students-with-Disabilities-Procedure.pdf. Students needing an accommodation in relation to their coursework based on a Protected Ground other than Disability, should communicate this need, preferably in writing, to their Instructor.

Academic Misconduct

For information on academic misconduct and its consequences, please see the University of Calgary Calendar at <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html>

Attendance/ Prolonged Absence

Students may be asked to provide supporting documentation for an exemption/special request. This may include, but is not limited to, a prolonged absence from a course where participation is required, a missed course assessment, a deferred examination, or an appeal. Students are encouraged to submit documentation that will support their situation. Supporting documentation may be dependent on the reason noted in their personal statement/explanation provided to explain their situation. This could be medical certificate/documentation, references, police reports, invitation letter, third party letter of support or a statutory declaration etc. The decision to provide supporting documentation that best suits the situation is at the discretion of the student.

Falsification of any supporting documentation will be taken very seriously and may result in disciplinary action through the Academic Discipline regulations or the Student Non-Academic Misconduct policy.

The Freedom of Information Protection of Privacy Act prevents instructors from placing assignments or examinations in a public place for pickup and prevents students from access to exams or assignments other than their own. Therefore, students and instructors may use one of the following options: return/collect assignments during class time or during instructors' office hours, students provide instructors with a self-addressed stamped envelope, or submit/return assignments as electronic files attached to private e-mail messages.
