Course Dates: January 11-April 15, 2021

Last Day to Add/Drop/Swap: Due to the non-standard dates associated with this program, please check your Student Centre for the important dates pertaining to your section.

Pre-requisite: Due to the multiple pathways in the Bachelor of Education, please consult Undergraduate Programs in Education for questions related to pre-requisite courses.

Office Hours: Available Monday through Friday via email. Please allow 24 hours for response to emails.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

The intent of EDUC 213: Teaching Children How to Write course is to provide theoretical knowledge for teaching beginning writers in K-12 settings. Students will explore the fundamental components of literacy, and assignments will present multiple opportunities for students to increase their understanding of the development of writing. The focus of this part of the course will be forming the theoretical and practical knowledge about teaching writing through a wide range of developmental stages. This course is a co-requisite with EDUC 215: Supporting Children’s writing, a course that will provide opportunities for students to reflect on and enact the writing strategies uncovered in this course. Students do not need to take EDUC 215 to enroll in this course, although doing so is highly recommended.

LEARNER OUTCOMES:

Over the course of the semester, students will:

1. Develop an understanding that writing as a lifelong, learned skill.
2. Explore the fundamental processes of encoding, sentence and paragraph construction, and linking the writing process to three types of writing (expository, narrative, and critical reflection). The students will also consider voice and audience as critical features of the writing process.
3. Read a variety of mentor texts to recognize and identify features of polished and professional writing.
4. Evaluate personal barriers and advantages associated with own writing and to practice the writing process.
5. Analyze and edit own writing using mentor texts, peer review, and self-assessment to understand the writing process as it emerged in own practice.

COURSE DESIGN AND DELIVERY: This course will be delivered completely online with four mandatory Zoom sessions.

REQUIRED RESOURCES:
Staying up to date with required readings is necessary for your successful completion of this course. Readings have been carefully selected to guide your understanding of the course content and contain the necessary information that you need to engage meaningfully with your groups.

The readings and resources below are recommended for continued professional learning and development well beyond this course and into your first years of teaching. You might need to purchase (or borrow from a library) a copy of the books that are starred (*) because they are not freely available online.

Please refer to the detailed Weekly Plan on page 5 of this Course Outline for the assigned dates for reading these texts.

Required Books

You should either purchase these books or borrow them from your local library for the term.

E-book available from the following vendors; Apps available in Android and Apple devices
Amazon Kindle ; Google Play Books ; Kobo

Note: Either the American or British version is acceptable, however I will be following the British version.

LEARNING TASKS OVERVIEW

The course has four assignments to be completed as listed below. The daily on-campus segment of this course is structured to assist with the completion of one portfolio consisting of several smaller tasks. The task descriptions and assessment details for each assignment will be discussed in class. The instructor will facilitate the ongoing work and will support students as they engage in the assignments by providing ongoing, timely and constructive feedback to further learning.

Late submissions will not be accepted without consultation with the Instructor prior to the due date. If you are having trouble with completing an assignment, you must let the instructor know in advance of the due date to negotiate for an extension. Extensions will be granted in accordance with University and Faculty policies.

Cheating, copying, and plagiarism are taken seriously and will be dealt with according to the policies of the University of Calgary and the Werklund School of Education.

CHANGES TO SCHEDULE:
Please note that changes to the schedule may occur to meet the emerging needs and dynamics of the participants in the course. If students notice any errors or omissions, please let the instructor know right away through email or the Course Café.

LEARNING TASKS AND ASSESSMENT
There are four required Learning Tasks for this course.

1. LEARNING TASK 1: Phonetics Program Exploration DUE: February 5, 2021

   Upload to D2L Discussion board for class discussion/feedback by Feb 3, 2021

   Many programs have been developed to assist young children with learning how to write. For this assignment, you will choose one of the below programs and summarize its key features and usefulness for working with children or youth. You will work in groups of 3-4 people. If you are having problems finding a group, or if your group is not working well together, you must let the instructor know NO LATER than January 21, 2021.

   Writing Program Choices:
   - Lucy Calkins (Writing Pathways/Writing Workshops)
   - Miriam Trehearne (Multiple Paths to Literacy)
   - Turtle Island Voices
   - Google Read & Write (including apps and extensions)
   - Empowering Writers
   - Levelled Literacy
   - Handwriting without Tears

   Your final product should provide all of the following information:
   1. A detailed summary of how the program is set up including details of cost to schools/teachers, provision of professional development, and daily schedule of activities (how the program looks in a classroom).
   2. Who (i.e. which students) benefits the most from using this program and when this program should be used (i.e. ages/developmental stages/grades).
   3. How this program relates to your group’s understanding of how literacy is acquired (i.e. the Four Resources Model).

   The final submission could take the form of an Infograph, group essay (2-3 pages maximum length), web page, or Prezi/PowerPoint (10-15 slides). See the below rubric for other grading criteria.
You should use the Four Resources Model by Luke and Freebody (1990) as your theoretical framework. Your submission should show evidence of research beyond course materials and beyond the writing program’s own presented benefits. Have other academic researchers provided evidence to support the use of this writing program?

You will upload a copy of your final product to the appropriate D2L discussion board for feedback from your classmates by February 3. Use this feedback to generate discussion and make your final submission stronger.

Your final submission should include a References page formatted according to APA 7th Edition standards.

<td>Professional (A+) 20/20</td>
<td>Program Overview: The summary of the writing program provides a thorough overview of the features, researchers, and main theories associated with the writing program. The summary provides insightful commentary about the usefulness and appropriateness of the writing program. The choice of presentation is well-suited to provide the information. Evidence of Research: Precise and accurate evidence is presented about the writing program beyond the program’s own research. Class resources, discussions, and other materials are used as support or evidence of program’s usefulness. Several credible sources are included as evidence. The Four Resources Model is used very well as a theoretical framework to discuss this program. Audience: Submission accurately and concisely summarizes the audience for this writing program. It suggests several possible uses for this program and identifies who would benefit from using it. Shared: Final summary is submitted to D2L in a timely manner and generated interesting discussion and feedback from peers in class. Conventions of Language: Language (written or otherwise) is sophisticated, clear and accurate with no grammar, punctuation or spelling mistakes. In-text citation makes information sources clear and easily retrieved. APA formatting is used to cite sources with no errors.</td>

<td>Program Overview: The summary of the writing program provides an insightful overview of the features, researchers, and main theories associated with the writing program. The summary provides useful commentary about the appropriateness of the writing program. The choice for presentation suits the information provided. Evidence of Research: Accurate evidence is presented about the writing program beyond the program’s own research. Class resources, discussions, and other materials are used as support or evidence of program’s usefulness. Several credible sources are included as evidence. Understanding of the Four Resources Model is evident. Audience: Submission accurately summarizes the audience for this writing program. It suggests some possible uses for this program and identifies who would benefit from using it. Shared: Final summary is submitted to D2L in a timely manner and generated discussion and feedback from peers in class. Conventions of Language: Language (written or otherwise) is clear and accurate with few grammar, punctuation or spelling mistakes. In-text citation is well-used to indicate the source of information provided. APA formatting is used to cite sources with few errors that do not interfere with ability to locate information.</td>

<td>Good work (B+ to A-) 16/20</td>
<td>Program Overview: The summary of the writing program provides an overview of the features, researchers, and main theories associated with the writing program. The summary provides some commentary about the appropriateness of the writing program. The choice for presentation suits the information provided, although the summary is lacking in enough detail. Evidence of Research: Evidence is presented about the writing program beyond the program’s own research. Two of class resources, discussions, personal experience, and other materials are used as support or evidence of program’s usefulness. A few credible sources are included as evidence, but submission relies heavily on course materials. A beginning understanding of the Four Resources Model is evident, but more research is necessary. Audience: Submission summarizes the audience for this writing program. It suggests a narrow selection of uses for this program and identifies who would benefit from using it. Shared: Final summary is submitted to D2L right on time generating limited discussion and feedback. Conventions of Language: Language (written or otherwise) is clear but contains grammar, punctuation or spelling mistakes that occasionally impede reader comprehension. In-text citation is used. APA formatting is used to cite sources with some errors that make locating sources difficult.</td>

2. LEARNING TASK 2: Mentor Task Development DUE: March 24 by 11:59 pm

Using one of the Young Adult novels listed under Required Readings, find several mentor sentences and paragraphs to exemplify excellent use of the six sections of Eats, Shoots and Leaves by Lynne Trusse (see page vii for the sections). An exemplar will be provided to you on D2L.

Discuss, in a well-written paragraph, why you chose each mentor sentence as an example of the grammatical convention explained by Lynne Trusse. Why did the sentence stand out as you read the mentor text? Which convention did it use the best? What misunderstandings could result had the author not used the grammatical convention well?

Your response should be 3-6 pages in length, double-spaced, and written in 12-point Times/New Roman font with one-inch page margins. Each paragraph should be concise and well-written, justifying the mentor text that you chose. You should use APA 7th Edition formatting and properly cite the sentences and the textbook.

The response reveals a solid understanding of the purpose and use of grammatical conventions for clear communication.</td>
<td>The mentor texts align with the grammatical convention described by Trusse showing a beginning understanding of mentor texts. A few sentences were chosen as mentor texts, showing a strong understanding of the convention and mentor texts. The paragraph summarizes reasons for choosing the sentence as a strong example of the grammatical convention, but with little deep analysis. The response reveals a limited understanding of the purpose and use of grammatical conventions for communication.</td>
<td>The mentor texts loosely align with the grammatical convention described by Trusse showing a marginal or limited understanding of mentor texts. A limited number of sentences were chosen as examples. The paragraph summarizes the information about grammatical convention, but no analysis. The response reveals a marginal understanding of the purpose and use of grammatical conventions for communication.</td>

3. LEARNING TASK 3: Discussion Post Revision and Reflection  DUE: April 6 by 11:59 pm

For this assignment, students will choose a discussion post from either this course, or a previous online course related to literacy instruction, and revise it thoroughly to reflect updated knowledge of writing conventions.

The revised discussion post should include new or updated knowledge that you have gained through participating in this course. As a result of furthering your own knowledge, you should also revisit your References page and update it accordingly. You should submit an unchanged copy of your discussion post as it appeared in its first iteration to show your editing.

As you complete your revision, keep careful note of the changes that you made through Track Changes or photos of written revisions.

Consider the following questions as you work on your revision:

- Were you correcting grammatical errors, spelling, or information?
- What changed the most as you revised your earlier post?
- What did you notice initially when you read your earlier writing?
- How did the responses from other folks in the discussion influence your perception of your earlier post?

From these notes, write a two-page reflection on the changes that you noticed in your writing. Use course readings and your knowledge of mentor texts to support your reflection.

You may provide a rough draft or outline to your course instructor by April 1, 2020 for feedback and suggestions.

Learning Task 4: Discussion Post Revision and Reflection Due: April 5 by 11:59 pm

Posts on D2L: Due by Saturday night at 8:00 pm weekly throughout term. A Word Document copy of your two best posts must be submitted to D2L Dropbox in Weekly Posts folder for grading.

Facilitator Post: Due by Tuesday night at 7:00 pm on assigned week. A Word Document copy of your facilitator post must be simultaneously uploaded to D2L in the Facilitator Folder under Weekly Posts for grading. When you are the weekly facilitator, you will automatically earn full grades for the week.

The discussion boards on D2L in an online course are the main avenue for class discussion. Each Sunday, the instructor will provide readings and other texts for review and discussion, with a main question posed at the end of these materials for small group discussion. You will join the groups as either a facilitator (once per term) or a participant (every week).

Over the course of the term, you take on the role of Facilitator and will be expected to summarize the main concepts in one of the course texts for discussion by Tuesday at 7:00 pm. As the facilitator, you will support the group discussion for the remainder of the week by asking questions to your peers about your post.

When you are a participant, you will read the required materials for the week as posted by the instructor, and you will read all the facilitator summaries. You will respond twice each week, either to the same facilitator or in two different forums. Each post should be 200 words in length (unless you have more to say), relate to the weekly topic, and further the discussion within your group board. You should read all the posts in your own group, but you are not required to read the discussion posts of other groups.

Your grades for your Weekly Posts will be divided equally over the eight weeks of facilitated posts throughout the term. In the week that you are the facilitator, you will automatically earn full marks as this role is more work. You must provide a Word Document copy of your posts by the end of the in the D2L Dropbox folder.

CRITERIA FOR ASSESSMENT OF LEARNING TASK 4

THE EXPECTATION OF EXCELLENCE IN PROFESSIONAL WORK

Please review the Academic Calendar carefully. It describes the program and provides detailed schedules and important dates. It contains information on expectations for student work and professional conduct. In addition, procedures are described regarding concern about student performance in the program. Please pay especially careful attention to details and descriptions in the following topic areas:

- The Importance of Attendance and Participation in Every Class

As this is a professional program, experiences are designed with the expectation that all members will be fully involved in all classes and in all coursework experiences. As you are a member of a learning community your contribution is vital and highly valued, just as it will be when you take on the professional responsibilities of being a teacher. We expect that you will not be absent from a mandatory Zoom Meeting except for documented instances of personal or family illness or for religious requirements.
• Engagement in Class Discussion and Inquiry

Another reason for the importance of attendance and participation in every class is that the course involves working with fellow students to share ideas and thinking. Each week, you will work with a small group online to discuss and understand the practical considerations of supporting children and youth engaged in reading and writing through a variety of texts. Through sharing experiences, the intent is to widen your own understanding and strategy base for building a love of writing for children and youth.

To be successful in this class, you are required to: complete the readings by the Monday of each week; participate in online class discussion; provide meaningful and appropriate peer feedback; and complete all assignments before the due date.

Online discussion boards are collaborative in nature; therefore, each student is responsible to keep the conversation going. If you are experiencing difficulties with course or workload and are unable to participate fully in the online discussion boards, you must inform the instructor immediately to ensure that all students can be active in discussion threads.

EXPECTATIONS FOR WRITING

All written assignments (including, to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc.) but also general clarity and organization. Sources used in research papers must be properly documented. If you need help with your writing, you may use the writing support services in the Learning Commons. For further information, please refer to the official online University of Calgary Calendar, Academic Regulations, E. Course Information, E.2: Writing Across the Curriculum: http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/e-2.html

LATE SUBMISSIONS

All late submissions of assignments must be discussed with the instructor prior to the due date. Students may be required to provide written documentation of extenuating circumstances (e.g. statutory declaration, doctor’s note, note from the University of Calgary Wellness Centre, obituary notice). Late submissions without documentation will be assigned a penalty of 10% per day to a maximum of four days. A deferral of up to 30 days may be granted at the discretion of the Associate Dean of Undergraduate Programs with accompanying written evidence if requested PRIOR to the due date.

ISSUES WITH GROUP TASKS

With respect to group work, if your group is having difficulty collaborating effectively, please contact the instructor immediately. If a group is unable to collaborate effectively or discuss course materials online in a timely manner, the instructor may re-assign members to different groups or assign individual work for completion.

Students in the B.Ed. program must have an overall GPA of 2.5 in the semester to continue in the program without repeating courses.

Academic Accommodation

Students seeking an accommodation based on disability or medical concerns should contact Student Accessibility Services; SAS will process the request and issue letters of accommodation to instructors. For additional information on support services and accommodations for students with disabilities, visit www.ucalgary.ca/access/. Students who require an accommodation in relation to their coursework based on a protected ground other than disability should communicate this need in writing to their Instructor. The full policy on Student Accommodations is available at https://ucalgary.ca/student-services/access/prospective-students/academic-accommodations.

Academic Misconduct

For information on academic misconduct and its consequences, please see the University of Calgary Calendar at http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html

Attendance/ Prolonged Absence

Students may be asked to provide supporting documentation for an exemption/special request. This may include, but is not limited to, a prolonged absence from a course where participation is required, a missed course assessment, a deferred examination, or an appeal. Students are encouraged to submit documentation that will support their situation. Supporting documentation may be dependent on the reason noted in their personal statement/explanation provided to explain their situation. This could be medical certificate/documentation, references, police reports, invitation letter, third party letter of support or a statutory declaration etc. The decision to provide supporting documentation that best suits the situation is at the discretion of the student.
Falsification of any supporting documentation will be taken very seriously and may result in disciplinary action through the Academic Discipline regulations or the Student Non-Academic Misconduct policy.
